

Example of Management of Adults in Rainbow Class.

This table shows the roles and responsibilities of the teacher and assistants during curriculum activities. All adults are clear of which particular care need they are responsible for during lesson times. However, flexibility is also key as demonstrated by John's unplanned for bowel movement! The teacher will use this system of planning across the whole week on top of planned curriculum activities. It is vital that class rooms where there are high levels of staffing to enable the pupils to achieve their potential, are organised to this extent.
